Location:

Algaida is a charming village in the heart of the Spanish island of Mallorca, characterized by its traditional atmosphere and rich history. It is located around 25 kilometers east of the island's capital Palma de Mallorca and is surrounded by a hilly landscape and agricultural land.

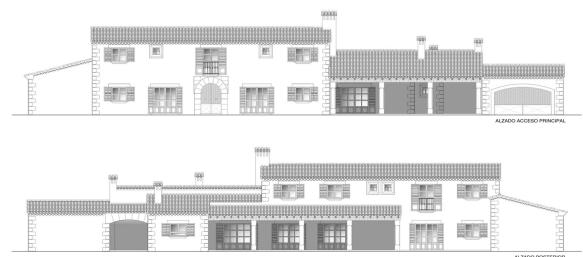

The townscape of Algaida is characterized by traditional Mallorcan stone houses and narrow, cobbled streets, which convey an authentic and idyllic ambience. In the center of the village is the impressive parish church of Sant Pere i Sant Pau, a remarkable example of Gothic architecture dating back to the 14th century.

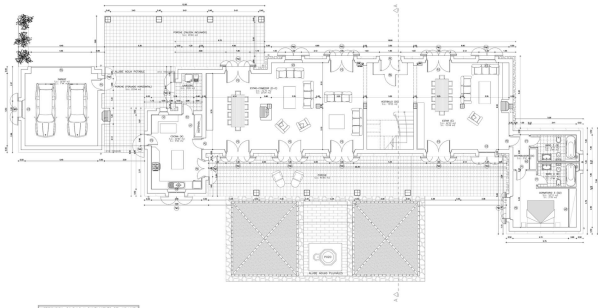

Algaida is known for its artisan traditions and gastronomy. Visitors can enjoy typical Mallorcan dishes such as "Frito Mallorquin" and "Sobrassada" in the local restaurants and bars. A special highlight is the Gordiola glassworks, one of the oldest glassworks on the island, which has been in existence since the 18th century and where you can admire the traditional art of glass blowing.

The surroundings of Algaida offer numerous possibilities for outdoor activities. There are picturesque hiking and cycling trails that lead through the rolling hills and offer breathtaking views of the Mediterranean landscape. The nearby Puig de Randa mountain is a popular destination for hikers and pilgrims and is home to the historic Santuari de Cura monastery, which offers sweeping views across the island.

In summary, Algaida is a charming destination for those who want to experience the authentic Mallorca, away from the busy tourist hotspots. Here you can enjoy the tranquillity and beauty of nature, get to know the island's traditions and experience the warm hospitality of the locals.
